MAJOR RESEARCH PROJECT ADMINISTRATION / LEADERSHIP

2015 - continue	As the Director of the Northern Institute for Environmental and Minority Law of the Arctic Centre of the University of Lapland, I have been leading a group of approximately 15 research and other staff members. Staff members consist of senior-level researchers, Post-docs, Doctoral researchers as well as project coordinators and interns.

2014 – 2018	HuSArctic: Human Security as a promotional tool for societal security in the Arctic – is a major project – the total budget was around 800,000 Euros, with a 550,000 Euro contribution from the Academy of Finland (Finland’s national research agency). As the project's leader, in addition to project management and monitoring the project’s day-to-day financial and administrative functions, I performed a direct research supervisory role for six recruited personnel at various levels of their academic career, from post-doc to doctoral level researchers.
2017 – 2019	EcoHuCy: Enablement besides Constrains: Human security and a Cyber Multi-disciplinary framework in the European High North – is a major research consortium project – the total budget of which is around 1.2 million Euros with 820,583 Euro contribution from NordForsk (Central research funding agency of Nordic states) + the Economic and Social Research Council of the UK. As the lead of the whole consortium, I performed administrative and research leadership roles. Tasks included planning, implementing, and decision-making on all project-related activities, which took place in four different institutions in Finland, Norway, Sweden and the United Kingdom. In addition, I also performed a leadership role in supervising and leading research tasks within the project where approximately 12 researchers, from the level of professor to doctoral researchers, were directly involved.
2013 – continue	Apart from the leadership role mentioned above, I have actively led over a dozen research and development projects and over 20 projects of various kinds as the collaborative lead (see below). My role in these projects taught me to be an effective leader and administrator.

ACADEMIC SUPERVISIONS

2015 - continue	Doctoral supervisions: I currently supervise seven doctoral students at the Faculty of Law of the University of Lapland.
2015 – continue	Project supervisions: As the Northern Institute for Environmental and Minority Law Director at the Arctic Centre of the University of Lapland, I supervise around 15 research staff, including post-Doctoral researchers, who are working on several research projects internally and externally funded.
2015 – 2018	Project supervisions: Under the framework of the Academy of Finland-funded HuSArctic project (www.husarctic.org), I, as the PI of the project, supervise two post-Doctoral and three PhD researchers recruited within the project. In addition, a number of researchers worked on the project without being recruited with salaried positions whose work I supervised.
2017 – 2019	Project supervisions: Within the framework of the project “Enablement besides Constraints: Human security and a Cyber Multi-disciplinary framework in the European High North” (EcoHuCy), I have been supervising approximately eight researchers, including Post-Doc and PhD researchers who were employed in the project and located in four countries (Denmark, Finland, Norway and the UK)
2010 – continue	Other academic supervisions: As a secondary/supplementary supervisor, I have supervised several PhD students at the Faculty of Law of the University of Lapland and at other national and foreign Universities.
2008 – continue	Master's Thesis supervisions: I act as a regular supervisor for the Master's students under the MIC Law program at the University of Lapland as well as at other foreign Universities, such as the UiT Arctic University of Norway and the University of Greenland. The number of students varies annually, but approximately three to five yearly. Over the past years, I have supervised over a dozen Master' thesis at the Faculty of Law of the University of Lapland and elsewhere.

2010 – continue	Supervisions for foreign universities: I also regularly act as an external evaluator for Master’s thesis written for the UiT, the Arctic University of Norway. During the past years, in addition to the UiT, I have also evaluated Master’s thesis written for the Free University, Brussels, DeMontfort University, UK, and the University of Greenland. In addition, I have been regularly evaluating Master’s level students’ work at the University of Greenland since 2018 as the external professor for International Law studies.
